Within These Walls

Darkness, light
Courage, fright
Friendship, loneliness
Fellowship, Abandonment

This place has been a neutral place
Where some find love and some find hate
Being close to those you know will support you
Or hiding from those who dare to criticize you

Within these walls are recompensing memories
But also indemnity from what lurks outside them
Giving the illustrious illusion
That these walls protect us from outsides pollution

This atmosphere can give you a true thankfulness of life
But can provide the means to be engulfed in strife
To take and use that which these walls may throw,
Is the utmost way to give you lifes glow.

Rejection, deceit
Ambition, uncertainty
Knowledge, ignorance
Laughter, joy

The many things, Ive had to face
While walking through these halls
Have given me a taste of the many things
In life which may try to make me fall.
The gift to teach holds the reward of learning
The power to become anything worth earning
The vision to see that which your heart is yearning
Is the key to keeping your spirits fire burning.

The sinister snickers of shallow pupils
Wont be used to keep me from being useful
And giving all that I have within
For the betterment of myself and many of them
The belief in my own success and passion
Will be a thrust beyond their selfish rejection

So that I will enter a place where I obtain a resolution
And wont be affected by their words of persecution
Distractions hasten from every direction
To interfere with knowledgeable perfection
And prevent that, which is tainted and unworthy,
From ever becoming cleansed and holy.

But, in these walls have I also found those Who are willing to treat me like a cherished rose
People who are eager to give more than they receive
People who I know wont ever leave
How I wonder why more of them dont mesh
Where the taste of good and bad seems to be so fresh
How these walls would mean so much more
If we all decided to end this evil war

These walls can either filter your mind
Or give you the courage to find
That which lurks outside of this place
And what will happen if you have a taste
Dont be like others and follow the cliché
For the cliché is most often cast away
Find out whats going on within you and realize
That the more you seek, the more you will find

Take these and learn from what
You see dwelling within these walls
See beyond what is before you
And grasp that which is yet to come
Excellence is waiting for it to obtained
Success is within reach, just dont restrain
I will never forget this place which prepared me for all,
All of lifes lessons are first taught within these walls.

From the Headmaster..

" As you look through the pages, enjoy thinking of the times when the pictures were taken and of the friends you see here."

This is a book of memories. Browsing through these pages is usually fun but sometimes it can also be a little sad . You will see the faces of the friends who have returned and are still with you but you will also see here the faces of those who have moved away from Saltus and perhaps from Bermuda. I hope that they will return and that you will keep in touch with them even as the years pass.

Not all school years are uniformly happy or personally successful but they are important places in memory and, despite the fact that it is a truism, these years will have been some of the happiest of your lives. As you look through the pages, enjoy thinking of the times when the pictures were taken and of the friends you see here. Celebrate that feeling of belonging and of the importance of this place.

I always enjoy reading the words that I offer to graduates and leavers at the end of each academic year: I give them to you now, not as a farewell but as an introduction for the words and the images of the life of the school are powerfully affective and entirely true:

After you have left Saltus, in the years ahead, many of you will return many times over. A few of you will leave and, for one reason or another, will never return. But one fact will never change Saltus was the beginning.

Your time here will endure in vivid memory for as long as you live. Friends in class and on the sports field, teachers, rooms, buildings, plays and concerts, triumphs and disappointments, jokes and fun will return to you. As the years roll by, you will think of these things often. When you do, however far you may be from this moment you may be in space and in time, you will again be as you are now: a member of this family and a part of this place.

Deputy Headmaster's report...

The academic year 2006-07 marked a personal milestone with the completion of 30 years of teaching at Saltus. At a time when we are actively engaged in a period of self-evaluation and reflection as part of the accreditation process with the Canadian Educational Standards Institute, with the focus firmly fixed upon making a good school better, it is certainly not inappropriate to indulge myself briefly in reminiscences of the past by looking back at the school as it was when I first arrived in September 1977.

Saltus undoubtedly was a good school then, and remains so today. The Yearbook of 1977-78, just as this current one, bears witness to a school with high academic standards and a vibrant extra-curricular life, embracing a wide variety of activities. It is interesting to note that topics which are still debated today occupied the attention of students that long ago: an article by David Evans (5H), for example, considers What Independence Would Mean to the Youth of Bermuda. It is equally worthy of comment, particularly in an age when many hark back to the good old days as the panacea for all modern ills, that the administration of the school wrestled with issues of significance. Standards are slipping, wrote Headmaster Roy Haygarth, at least in the Senior School; we have the whole gamut, from borrowing without returning, by way of borrowing without asking and finding and keeping, down to the occasional downright theft..The problem is compounded by the present day carelessness of most boys with their own things, even valuable things.

At the same time, however, as in the life of any institution over a thirty year span, there are differences, some more readily apparent than others. The student population, co-educational since 1991, has virtually doubled, whilst the number of teachers has grown from a school-wide total of 35 to a figure just short of 100. Facilities have increased in size and, certainly, in quality. Remember, those were the days when the only ventilation in the classroom came from an open window; that is, if it actually would open and was not jammed shut to prevent it from rattling when the slightest breeze blew! What is not as obvious, however, is the willingness to be more self-critical, to ask ourselves what we do, and how and why we do it. In 1977, to quote a phrase often used by the current Headmaster, it was in many ways a matter of putting square pegs into round holes, with little or no recognition of individual student differences and needs.

Saltus has, therefore, grown not only in numbers and in physical plant, but also in its readiness to embrace change, not simply for changes sake but where change is appropriate on sound educational grounds. Like all good schools, Saltus can never simply rest upon its laurels, but must always seek to be the best that it can be. The accreditation process will certainly be of much benefit in this respect since it ensures that member schools are living in a culture of continuous improvement, of discussion, rethinking, and moving forward

Malcolm Durrant.

Interschool Sports

SWIMMING

The first event on the school calendar was swimming. This event was held at Warwick Academy and attracted nine schools. Saltus placed third in the boys division fourth in the girls and finished third overall.

SOCCER.

The boys had an enjoyable season although time did not allow for the completion of the scheduled matches. They played five games, won 2, drew 2 and lost only one game, which placed the team third in the league.

In the girls 7-a-side tournament, Saltus placed second in their division, but then lost on penalties in a very close match with Francis Patton. The girls then went on to play in the first ever BSSF league and won five games and drew one. The girls were very enthusiastic and had a most enjoyable and successful season.

NETBALL

In January the girls participated in a Netball Tournament. They met with mixed success, but none the less, participated with good sportsmanship and determination.

CROSS COUNTRY.

The inter-school Championships were once again held at the Sports Center, with the athletes competing over an undulating course through the Arboretum. Adam Hall and Quinnae Outerbridge ran outstanding races, and both placed third in the under-nine section. Other outstanding performances and top ten finishes were produced by Jada Simons, Nicole Amaral, Clementine Keyes, Sierra Fisher, Alex Alvera and Jonas Schroder. The girls teams were very strong and for the first time ever placed first in both the under nine and over nine groups. The boys teams also ran well and placed second and fourth.

FIELD HOCKEY

Field hockey generated a lot of interest this year and a large number of boys and girls were prepared to practice for the interschool competition. The boys placed second in the tournament while the girls placed third.

TENNIS

This competition was held at the Tennis Stadium. Saltus was able to enter several teams in both the boys and girls divisions. This was a doubles format and Saltus came out on top in both groups. Partners Taylor McHarg and Christina Joynes won the girls event, while Nathaniel Hartwig and Marco Waisman-Garzon were champion boys. Saltus triumphs yet again.

TRACK AND FIELD

At the Inter-school Track and field finals, we had several top performances. Adam Hall and Jada Simons won their respective 800m races, and Kristen Steede won the Long Jump. Twelve students qualified for the finals and several other medals and ribbons were won.

CRICKET

The team had a very successful season and actually managed to play all four of their games. Two wins were registered in convincing style, while two narrow defeats were also recorded. Captain Shane Simmons was outstanding with his bowling and batting, while David Lehmann and Zack Friesen did a great job behind the wicket. Top bats were Ryan Parris and Andre Durham, while Joshua Liyanage, Anton Trott, and Damani Edwards all bowled well.

SOFTBALL

The final event on the calendar was softball. We entered a team in the co-ed tournament and this team qualified for the final and placed second, while the girls team made it to the semi-final round.

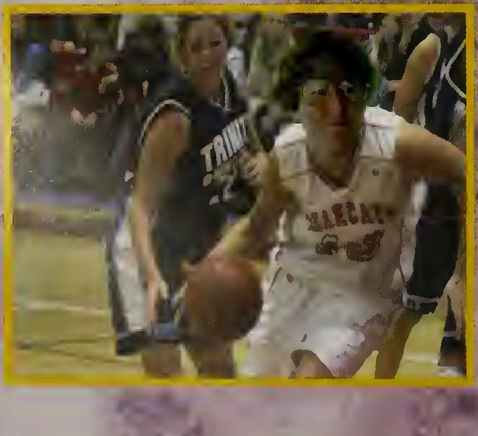
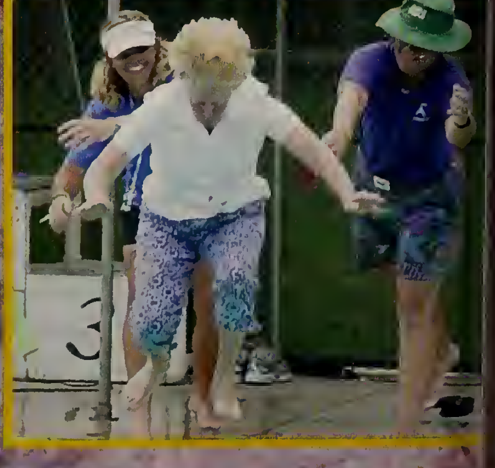
TEACHER





MRS DE SILVA RETIRES..

This really is my last goodbye to you all. I want to thank you all for the support and kindness you have shown me over the past years. Some of you I have only known for a year, some of you I have known for several years. Some of you have been my students from many years ago and some of you have been colleagues too.

Teaching has been my life for the past forty-two years and it is with sadness, yet a feeling of completeness, that I leave. I know there are many more things still to do at Saltus but it is time for someone else to do them. I look back at my fourteen years here with fondness. I have spent many, many hours working and now is the time to take my leave. I have been fortunate enough to receive some wonderful gifts from the school and parents and want to thank you all. I shall be using the travel vouchers to visit Greece and Turkey this summer and hopefully other such exotic places in the future. One of the most meaningful gifts was a Scrapbook made by some of the class parents with pictures of every child in the school. I shall treasure that book for the rest of my life.

Dr. Henry Dowling gave a speech at the SGY graduation a couple of weeks ago and made this observation to the graduates: Surround yourself with good things in life. Not material good things but things that are good for you. That saying struck a cord in me. I have been so fortunate to have had so many good things around me especially in some dark days.

I have had a good family, parents, brothers, grandmothers, aunts and uncles who gave me a good moral upbringing. I have had such very good friends, who have supported me, comforted me and laughed and cried with me. I have had good role models, headmasters, mentors, colleagues, fellow teachers and ministers who have helped shape my career.

I have worked in good schools where students have been an inspiration to me, and made me proud of their accomplishments. I have been fortunate to live in a good place like Bermuda where the air is clear, the beaches are clean and the island is beautiful.

I have my own family, my daughter, my four sons, my three granddaughters and now two grandsons who fill my heart with love and happiness. I have been fortunate to have had my first husband who loved his family dearly and now my present husband Stephen who loves and supports our family.

It is important to recognise those good things we surround ourselves with, as they will make the difference in your life.

Finally, I leave a school where I have been surrounded by such GOOD THINGS; wonderful children, a fantastic secretary and a dedicated staff who all have a passion about this school. Your children are in such a good place. I dont know of a better place they could be. Thank you for all your thoughts and wishes.
Yours sincerely,

Christine De Silva
Headteacher

Betty Marwick was born and raised in Niagara Falls, Ontario and after college taught there for several years. She moved to Toronto and whilst teaching obtained a Bachelor of Arts degree from York University.
She married in 1980 and moved to Bermuda in 1987 and raised three children. She worked as a teacher's aide and substitute teacher before accepting a position at Mount Saint Agnes in 1995 and finally moving to Saltus Junior School in 2001.
She considers her time at Saltus as the best years of her long teaching career. Betty is looking forward to her retirement and has many happy memories, although there is a touch of sadness as she will be leaving the many good friends she has made during her Saltus years.

Wendy Railton leaves Saltus after 15 years as a much loved Yr 3 teacher. She will be sadly missed by faculty and students alike.
She could always be relied upon to brighten our days with her colourful, unbelievable .."it could only happen to Wendy"....stories of her increasingly busy life. From holiday disasters, remodeling woes, electronic reporting nightmares, car problems to that darn dog......
Throughout all her troubles Wendy always looked so picture perfect, with a wonderful smile - that one would never guess. Her classroom was a reflection of her perfection - always neat, well organised (remember that filofax...?), bright, fun and very engaging!
Wendy, never change, enjoy your well deserved break - and keep the stories coming!.

J.B.

There are many people who help us throughout the year, and the Junior Department would like to thank you all. Likewise,due to digital photography, there are an increasing number of contributors to the pictures you see in this section and I would like to thank them for their expertise. I would especially like to thank Cynthia Barnes for her archival material without which much would pass unrecorded.

Alexander Davis has his locks shaved to support a children's cancer charity

St. Balderick's Day

Junior and Senior students rallied to the aid of the Red Cross on their Red. White and Do Day collecting over $1,700 for their Blood Donor Centre. Many endured a close cropping for the annual St. Baldricks event to raise funds for children with cancer including S7 Alexander Davis who had his head shaved during a Senior assembly. Alex along with Prep dad. Michael Cash, and Carlos Amaral (brother of S1 teacher Susana Pimentel) were all on hand at a Cavendish assembly where it was announced that just over $970 had been collected there. A Senior Department Grub Day raised an additional $1,000 for St. Baldricks. S3 Jordan Loving had her long locks cut donating the hair to Locks of Love Annette Cook (chatajack@logic.bm) collects and mails hair donations (you may contact her if you have any questions as to the requirements or preparation of the hair prior to cutting).

Ruth Henderson
1953-2007

"But we shared much more than just ice-cream that evening. We had managed to share a common love. The love of music. of crafting our musical product and of sharing it with one another and with anyone who cared to listen. " Mark Henderson's reflection of his mother....

n a 1987 article in the Mid-Ocean News our mother stated at in the case of her children studying music was not an ptional choice but a mandatory part of their education. We l started with the piano as she felt that it was a undational instrument. Besides, all the great classical usicians played the piano at some point.

ut one of her other intentions in making her children usical was to compose a little string quartet. To that end e had promptly enrolled Stephanie and Graeme in viola nd violin lessons. As for me, I remember vividly the day at it was decided that I would hold up the bass end of the uartet on the cello.

e had all piled into the car on the way to school. I think omebody must have forgotten a lunchbox or homework nd was smartly sent inside to fetch the chattel. As we were aiting Mother glanced up into the rearview mirror to look t me and said something to the effect of Now we need a ello to start rounding out our quartet. What do you think bout that Mark?

ow anybody who has ever had a mother would likely now that glance that every mother can give that says all at nce Ive asked you a question. But theres only one answer nd its the answer I want to hear or else! Well that was the ook in her eye on that morning. Naturally I was happy to blige as I thought that my mother would be pleased. And ruth be told I think I enjoyed the idea myself. It sounded ike it could be fun.

nfortunately the string quartet never got off the ground. lthough Gillian did start playing the violin and proceed to uite a high level the hopes of a quartet had died much arlier when Dad expressed that listening to Stephanie ractice was like listening to her skin a cat.

evertheless I did continue playing the cello for many years nd it did like all musical participation become a source of onding for my mother and me.

My mother played the organ at Philharmonic events that took place here in the Cathedral and for a time I played the cello in the Orchestra. On the occasion of one of the Winter concerts and memory escapes me whether it was Handels Messiah or Mendelsohns Elijah mother and I dutifully enrobed in our concert attire. She in a black concert dress and I in black trousers, a white tuxedo shirt and a seventies style oversized black velvet bow-tie. Why it was velvet I have no idea but as I was only 14 and didnt own my own bowtie I had borrowed it from my fathers collection. Nevertheless we proceeded to the concert and put in our performances.

When the concert was over I was in a particularly jovial mood and made the off hand suggestion that we should go for ice-cream on the way home a banana split to be exact. Now I fully expected her to say we have ice-cream at home or something to that effect. But to my surprise her response was quite different. She broke out a smile beaming from ear to ear. She always had quite a penchant for sweets anyway. And what better way to cap off the evening then do something a little out of the ordinary. So off we trucked in all our concert get up to Double Dip on Front Street and we ordered one Banana split to share. We chatted and we laughed and we made faces and we may have even spilled a little ice cream. But we shared much more than just ice-cream that evening. We had managed to share a common love. The love of music. of crafting our musical product and of sharing it with one another and with anyone who cared to listen.

SO while we never got our string quartet my agreeing to play the cello all those years before meant that we were able to share that experience on that particular day. In the same way she was responsible for sowing so many seeds in all of our lives that when harvested have provided and will continue to provide us all with innumerable wonderful memories. "

From: The GCSE Music Class of 2005-2007

Mrs. Henderson was one of the greatest teachers we have had. She was full of surprises and had such a kind heart.
Our earlier years in the Old Trailer Park down the hill from the Junior School were the best of times. Even though the trailer wasnt the best of locations or provided the musical atmosphere. her welcoming smile and kind heart made us feel at home. Even though it was far away from the main building, half of the room had electricity (at times) and when you walked too hard the CD skiped, she made the Trailer Park one of the best classrooms. She let us make tea and have some of her baked goods and ginger snaps every music lesson! She even brought in her mugs and good china for use to use. During this first year. she had us singing during class. We were so dreadful that she immediately hired a vocal instructor for our next lesson! Once she thought that we improved. she had us singing songs for a good portion of the lesson. One day. she took us to B.H.S's Multi-Cultural Day. We thought that we were there for the cultures. but little did we know that she had us singing in a concert. following the Culture Day!...She got us good! But Mrs. Henderson had always rewarded us for anything outside of school. with a big box of Cadbury Chocolates (especially at Christmas!) When we finally moved to the new music class room in the Goose Gosling Center. she we so excited! She always talked about her beautiful. floor-to-ceiling windows! She loved everything in the new room. from the space to the lighting. and the kitchen around the corner. That year was great too! We were working to complete Grade 5 Theory, and she pushed us to breaking point! However. she always rewarded us for the hard work with tea parties to conclude lessons. Mrs. Henderson was much more than a music teacher. she was like a second mother. teaching us life lessons. We will really miss Mrs. Henderson. Even though she is gone from us on earth, she is looking down upon us from Heaven and singing with the angels. She will always be loved.

Rest In Peace Mrs. Henderson

The Costa Rica trip took place over the February mid-term and involved 27 students and 5 staff. We spent a day in Miami and then on to San Jose that evening. The trip had a strong geographical and biological emphasis which included the active Arenal Volcano and lava fields, the adaptations and wildlife of the tropical rainforest, sustainable tourism and multinational companies in LEDCs. We were driven around in a luxury air conditioned coach and ate at least a years supply of fresh fruit and vegetables. The trip was great fun, enjoyed by all and Mr. Dorrington hopes to run it again in the not too distant future.

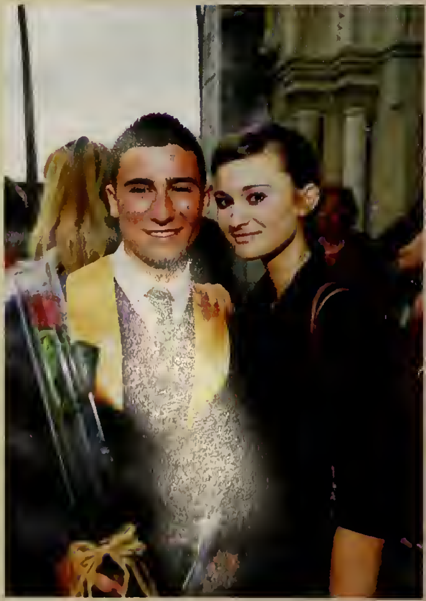
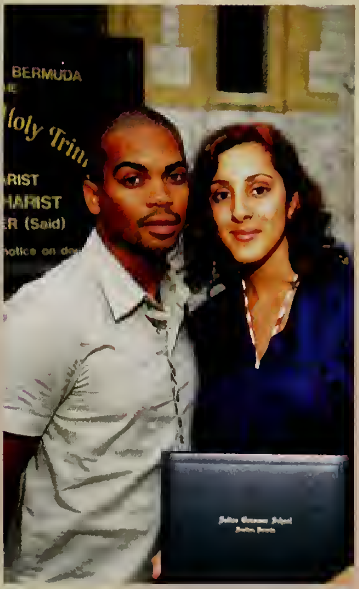
CONGRATULATIONS!



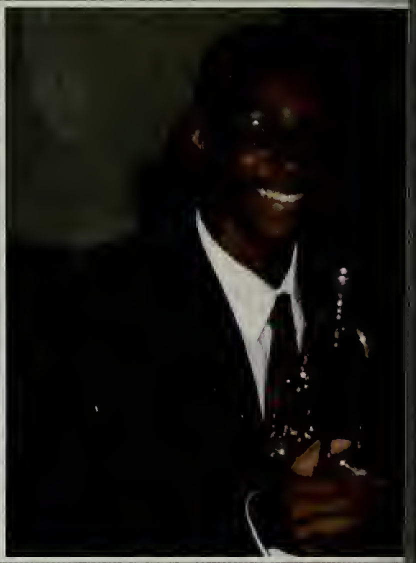
CLASS OF 2007!



Founders Day

"Our motto Labor Omnia Vincit -- written originally by the Roman Poet, Virgil -- is a common Latin phrase which translates Labour, or work, conquers all things. What it should advertise to us all in our School is that it is through diligent application that success is realised." Headmaster Nigel Kermode

The guest speaker at the Founders Day service was former Head Boy, David DeCosta 93. David is employed as a Reinsurance Underwriter and is the Chairman of the Saltus Alumni Association. In his words, Make the most of your time here [at Saltus].What you learn here will put you in good stead for life, from job opportunities to shaping your morals and values.



For the first time in several years Founders Day and SGY Graduatio were held on separate days. Founder Day began with a service in St. John Church attended by Senior students As Headmaster Nigel Kermode said i his address: We have separated ou observance of Founders day fron Graduation this year. This is in fac the way things used to be for w believe that the combination of the tw most significant events seemed to blu the significance of this day in ou School calendar. In the best spirit o our Founders Day, we give thank once again for a good School pas present and future. This day allows u to pause to honour our founde Samuel Saltus, and the positiv traditions that make Saltus a ver special place and to draw new strengt for the futur Founders day ended with a reception for staff and alumni on the Gosling Centre piazza which included a special presentation by the Trustees to Mrs. Christine DeSilva who retired after 14 years as Junior Head.

Comenius

Students have been involved in a grea
many activities through the Comeniu Astronomy Project this year. In-clas activities have included designing anc building a project website in ICT; emai exchanges and video conferences wit
our Spanish partner school in Spanish;
Maths/DT project to build a spac rocket and calculate the distance i would travel; creative writing in Englis based on phases of the moon; writing script for the Astronomy play; studyin aliens and adaptations in Year 7 Scienc

In Astronomy club students designe and built hot air balloons, undertoo individual astronomy-based project and organised a movie evening.
highlight of the year was when studen planned and carried out a telephon conference with Dr Jill Tarter at SET They researched the work of SETI an came up with a list of questions to as the prominent scientist about her work

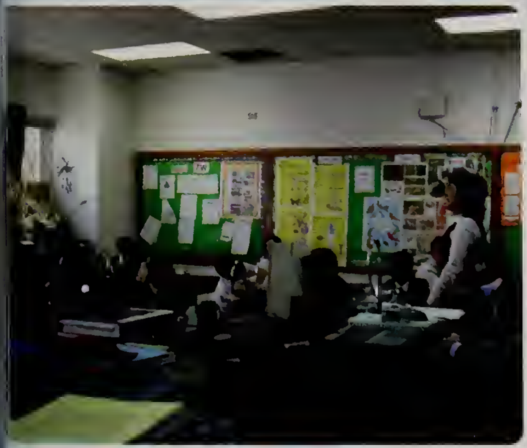
Project

ALL UNDER ONE SKY

Four students were chosen to represent he school at the Project Meeting in Spain and the UK in December 2006. There they attended lessons at the Spanish school, met with students from all of the other partner schools, created a play based on research about famous astronomers, studied samples of moon rocks, and visited the Eden Project, as well as discovering places of interest in Barcelona and Cornwall.

Students also did some fundraising: organising an international dinner to aise funds for the final year of Comenius, as we are no longer eligible to eceive funding from the British Council. This event showcased students work to the wider community and featured food from project partner ountries. A Barbecue and bake sales were also organised and held to raise unds.



SALTUS

Saltus Island is a woodland management project, developed in partnership with Th Bermuda National Trust. Saltus Island, located in Soncy Bay, Hamilton Harbou is an uninhabited 3.2 acre island. The Island originally belonged to Richard Norwood, the surveyor, and following th death of Norwoods daughter, it was passed to Samuel Saltus, the founder of Saltus Grammar School.

With money from the UK government this year, the project has been able to purchase a small boat, chainsaw and many endemic trees. All of the invasive Casuarina trees have been cut down and over 50 endemic and native trees have been planted during the school year.
